Stuttgart

at a glance

With a student population of approx. 34 000, Stuttgart has everything a student/post-grad could wish for.

Shopping

The city is not only crammed full of charming squares, exquisite palaces and traditional churches, but is also home to numerous shopping opportunities. Shoppers need look no further. There is the Königstraße, a pedestrianised shopping street of over 1000 m in length! The Market hall, Karls-Passage/ Eberhardstraße, Klett-Passage and the Bohnenviertel are just a few of the fantastic shopping streets in the city centre, each brimming with its own unique character and charm. Explore the magnificent shopping centres of Breuninger and Königsbau-Passage too.

Food and Drink

Don't forget to sample the various delicious local specialties during your time in Stuttgart; these can be found in Stuttgart's ample supply of restaurants. The foods to discover are Spätzle, Maultaschen, Swabian roast, Laugenbrezeln, onion cake and Gaisburger Marsch. The locally produced wines and beers should also not be missed. See www.stuttgart-tourist.de for more information.

Nightlife

From elegant bars and traditional pubs to the clubs on the Theodor-Heuss-Straße: whatever your idea of a great evening is, Stuttgart's fantastic nightlife will have something for you. A night at one of the many theatres is also a fantastic way to spend the evening.

Transport

The international Stuttgart Airport (STR) is just 13 km/ 8 miles south of the city centre and is easily accessible using the excellent public transport available. No matter where you live, the city centre will be within easy reach.
